

NUGGENDORF DRAMA

Royal Family Devastated With Prince Otto Diseased

Devastation snatched the village of Nuggendorf last night when the diamond encrusted gold of the sledge was spotted shimmering in the sun. It was zooming up the hill at great speed ,thought to have been driven by a mad man. It is reported that ,Prince Otto was found stark dead in the front seat, but the most mysterious thing was that his hand was still cracking the whip. According to witnesses, Baron Stelgratz (a dear family friend) is missing and no one knows why. The Royal Sledge is being fixed but those poor horses are still in a terrible state. Everything is in disaster.

At 10:00pm last night, an alarm was raised through the palace. The expensive ,golden Royal Sledge was spotted driving madly up the hill towards the palace. The guards were called to open the gates as fast as they could . The sledge rambled around the courtyard, smashing into things. It would have gone on for years if one of the horses hadn't tripped on the ground and toppled over and crashed the sleigh. The horses eyes were rolling and mouths were foaming. The Royal Physician (a well respected practitioner) said that there was clock-work in Prince Otto's chest. He was pronounced dead at 10:45pm and everyone is mourning. Thankfully, Prince Florian is doing extremely well, after that weak illness a few days ago. It is all a great mystery and no one knows what happened, but all we know is that Baron Stelgratz has not returned.

Carriage driving to the palace.

When interviewed at the scene, a passing villager exclaimed "I was just collecting apples when a large sledge came zooming up the hill. Prince Otto was stark dead with his hand lashing like crazy! Oh my, I almost passed out." The guard who was on duty, while the event happened, has said "I opened the gate just in time for the sledge to rush through and knock me off my feet! Princess Mariposa declined to say anything other than "I an shocked at why everything always happens to me. I don't want to talk about it" She is the most devastated since she spilled red wine all over her favourite party dress. All around the palace, everyone is mourning. Will happiness ever return to this lonely village of Nuggendorf?

Prince Otto dead.

Local police are calling out for more witnesses. PC Gaffnuff has said all of the Nuggendorf police will be looking for clues to solve the mystery. Prince Otto's funeral will be held in a few days and unfortunately Baron Stelgratz has not returned. They are sending out search parties and doctors are researching the death. Prince Florian is better than before and miraculously he is improving even after his fathers death. The police are doing what they can to solve this disaster.

Reported by Amy