

VILLAGE NEWS

Prince Otto dead. Baron Stelgratz missing

Terror gripped the local community last night in the little village of Nuggedorf when the much loved Prince Otto was found dead. It is reported that loyal companion Baron Stelgratz is missing. It is alleged that they had left for hunting trip last night at 10.00pm .

At approximately 10.45pm royal guards noticed a commotion down the road. Before long they realized it was prince Otto driving the cart. According to witnesses the cart was speeding towards the palace . They were shocked when he was dead and he held the reigns. The guard urgently called the royal physician to fix his body. When the doctor cut open his chest he had a clock instead of a heart.

By Tahir

When interviewed at the scene the royal physician was astonished to find a clock in his chest. "I am heartbroken now I am so so devastated I have no son!" sobbed Mariposa. The royal guard stated that the horses were mad fear. Their eyes were rolling around and their mouths were foaming.

Baron Stelgratz-- still missing

Local police are trying to find the murderer. They`re asking for any other witnesses. They have promised they will bring the murderer to justice.