

One day, you wake up to find this door in the corner of your room. What do you do? Who uses that door? Where does the door take you? Write a short story about you finding the door and what happens after.

I can include:

Me ✓

Fronted adverbials to mix up my sentence starters.

Example: Without warning, the door swung open.

Powerful verbs which paint a clearer picture for my reader.

Example: A tiny man shuffled out and twirled his moustache.

Embedded clauses in two different ways.

Example:

The man, who was more gnome than human, stared into my unblinking eyes.

The door – which swung on its hinges – looked ancient and rusty.

The ladder (which stood at a precarious position) allowed the tiny man to hop down from his hole and cross the carpet toward me.
