

Jeremy Burton said farewell to the island, to its trees and their boughs and to its night sky filled with stars.

Once they arrived,
Jimmy Button was surprised to find that the visitors' homes were made mostly of rocks, some stacked in towers taller than the tallest tree in the forest.

