1. Homeless people
2. She puts £5 in the cup. Extra mark for pointing out that mum is teaching her child the correct lessons so that they can help homeless people as well.
3. They are 'so many of them' so after a while you stop noticing them as they become a normal way of life like everything else around you.
4. Because she believes that life doesn't turn out the way people plan and it could happen to anyone, including oneself. A bonus mark if you infer that it is not always the homeless person's fault that they end up in that situation.
